A lot of medicines we use are made from plants which grow in the rainforests. Medicines that can help cure skin diseases and heart diseases are just some of the hundreds of medicines made from rainforest plants.

1)

There are many types of food and drinks in our diet that come from the rainforests. Not surprisingly, lots of fruits, such as bananas, kiwis, mangos, pineapples and papayas, grow there because of the hot, humid climate. Coffee beans and tea also grow in these areas.
